

The James Randi Educational Foundation is pleased to announce the publication of a new digital edition of Flim-Flam! for the iPad and iPhone. This new iBooks edition, published by the JREF and available through Apple's iBookstore, features a new introduction by James Randi, new cover by Travis Dick, and a special price of $6.99 (international availability and pricing may vary).

Find and download Flim-Flam! by searching for the title in the iBookstore on your iPad or iPhone.

The JREF sees digital publishing as an important tool for advancing its educational mission and bringing the message of scientific skepticism to new audiences. Watch for other titles to be released by the JREF, including new digital-only releases and enhanced versions of some the most important classic and contemporary works of skeptical literature.